"I had a very severe lung trouble and was so weak that I could scarcely walk about or talk. All my friends believed I could never get well. I then began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and immediately felt an improvement. It took only two bottles to work a complete cure. It certainly saved my life."
This is one of thousands of testimonials to the wonderful value of

HOUSE OF COMMONS.It's Deterioration and Lack of Prestige.

Frederic Harrison in the Positivist says that the House of Commons is degraded. It has lost its authority and its prestige. It has suffered itself year after year to be bamboozled, deceived, hoodwinked. It has voted away enormous sums without adequate inquiry or guarantees for fair return.
It has allowed huge peculations to be made under its very nose, and it has colluded with the official efforts to screen the criminals. It plays into the hands of ministers who for years are carrying on a game of equivocation, evasion, or to speak plainly, of falsehood.

Can this moral rot in the constitution of the house be stopped? The evil of it is that there is nothing accidental or temporary in it. The new rules have made the house more the creature of ministers. have made it easier to silence minorities and to evade questions, but that was the deliberate action of the majority, which cares for nothing if its own side can win.
The change of days and hours makes the house more convenient for amusement.

More and more it has become a rich man's club; a sort of Ranelagh for the smart set, and, indeed, for the shabby set. It is a club with all the social habits of a club, with the coterie rows, good-fellowship, casual ways of a pretty mixed club.
Clubs take lenient views of the moral qualities of clubbable fellows, who can only play bridge and amuse the smoking room. The house of commons does not do its duty, does not want to do its duty, and does not care how long ministers may wriggle and maneuver, so long as they will stave off the dissolution. When the majority have got to that state of hardened selfishness, it is not easy to find a remedy for that which it carries in the bones. Whether a new house and a new speaker can cure it remains to be seen.

Meaning of Different Colors.

Colors have a language of their own. White, for instance, which is a reunion of the seven primitive colors, is the symbol of power, divine wisdom, purity, candor, innocence and chastity. Red represents fire. It is, therefore, symbolic of passion, power and riches, hence kings and powerful rulers of the earth wore red mantles. It is also emblematic of hardness and cruelty, being the color worn by the executioners of old and by the members of the inquisition.

Blue denotes fidelity, sweetness, tenderness, loyalty, a spotless reputation. With the ancients yellow denoted glory and fortune. Now it is called the color of infidelity and shame. How is it that yellow has become the emblem of infidelity, perfidy and misfortune? Because the Jews were forced to wear yellow during the middle ages, and the house doors of traitors were smeared with the yolk of eggs.

Green is the color of hope and joy and the emblem of youth. Pink denotes health, youth, pleasure, love. Black denotes sadness. Violet is the color allowed to faith.
Orange means divine inspiration and poetry. The muses are all represented clad in orange-colored draperies. Orange was also the color of Hymen. Brides once wore orange-colored veils called flammeum, and they could not pronounce their vows unless covered with the flammeum.

Coffee in Hawaii.

According to the Washington, D. C., correspondent of the Tobacco Leaf, the Bureau of Statistics has prepared an elaborate combination of data regarding the coffee industry in Porto Rico and Hawaii, which, taken together with the information concerning the possibilities in the Philippines, demonstrates that a duty on coffee would speedily establish the industry in all our colonial possessions on a sound commercial basis. In the meantime the revenue that would be derived from importations from Brazil and other foreign countries would settle the problem presented by the current Treasury deficit.

To Figure Profits.

Nearly every merchant tries to mark his goods at a certain percentage of profit. In doing so he will find the following table valuable:

To make 16 2/3 per cent profit, add 20 per cent to cost.

To make 20 per cent profit, add 25 per cent to cost.

To make 25 per cent profit, add
33 1/3 per cent to cost.

To make 33 1/3 per cent profit,
add 50 per cent to cost.

100 per cent to cost.

You can mark goods by the preceding rule and any time you deduct the percentage of profit you will have the cost left.

A peculiarity of the southern part of the Congo valley is that one side of the hills is usually bare, the other covered with thick vegetation. This difference is due to the fact that one side gets little moisture, while the other is dampened by fogs blown against it every morning. The natives often shave off their hair from one side of their heads, the effect presenting the same appearance as the hills of the country.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Benefits a City Councilman at Kingston, Jamaica.

Mr. W. O'Reill Fogarty, who is a member of the City Council at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies, writes as follows: "One bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had good effect on a cough that was giving me trouble and I think I should have been more quickly relieved if I had continued the remedy. That it was beneficial and quick in relieving me there is no doubt and it is my intention to obtain another bottle." For sale by
